I been drinking here for years never had a problem at the pub. I even had my Granddaughters birthday here last year. The staff and customers are very friendly. The owner Colin is very strict with them and is on the ball at all times. [REDACTED]

I have been a valid customer of the Ivy for a considerable amount of years I still enjoy coming to the Ivy, and the bar staff are excellent.

HAVING BEEN A REGULAR CUSTOMER FOR A CONSIDERABLE TIME I HAVE SEEN CONSIDERABLE EFFORTS MADE TO IMPROVE THE CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE IN RECENT TIMES WITH MAJOR DECORATIVE AND STRUCTURAL DIFFERENCES. I FIND ALL OF THE STAFF TO BE PROFESSIONAL, FRIENDLY AND HELPFUL. I WOULD BE ~~HAPPY~~ HAPPY TO RECOMMEND THIS ESTABLISHMENT TO ANY AND ALL

I writing in response to the blue letter on the gate of the ivy sheerness kent.

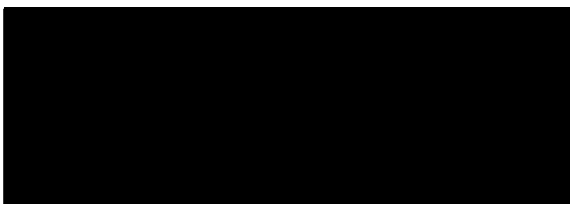

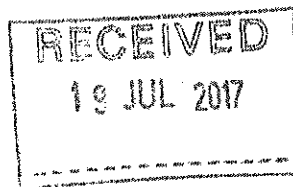

Thought I would say I have lived above the shops in the high street for 4 years and I can see into the garden of the ivy. They have lots of customers in the summer but mostly recently it has been very quiet. I pop into the ivy now and again with my daughter and we are always being told not let her near the counter/bar so I make her sit down before we have a coke or beer for me. I meet my friends there and its very happy friendly atmosphere there. I was shock to see the blue notice as this is not the ivy and it has pro trade it in a bad light which it is not. The owner is so nice and friendly but stricked with the staff as he always moaning or telling them what to do. He always making them clean and keep it tidy all the time, telling them to clean up glasses from garden wipe tables down and also he tell them to check toilets etc. I was shocked to see that an underage was sold drink. All I can say they must have look old enough he or she, as they always when iam in there id everyone. A few mums go in there with there children as its a friendly place. Also a lot of old boys as well. There has been a few skuffles in the garden but the staff sort it out and chuck the person out. Ive seen a list by the bar the staff to know..

The owner has changed the ivy a lot in the past years ive been in there. Theres a new room at the back which I dont know what hes doing with it but is supposed to be a lounge area for over 18's no mums with children in there which is a good idea for those who want to chill in peace.

It will be a huge shame if the ivy closes as I never had any problems with it and as I said I live right in front of the premises. The ivy is a community pub and it will be a lost if is closed and sadly missed. Also whats going to happen about the staff they will lose their jobs and its hard enough to get a job on this island as it is. There is shops closing everywhere.

To Whom it may concern,

I am a mother to two boys who I have taken to The Ivy Bar several times both during the day and in the early evening which was for a charity fund raising event.

I have always felt safe and secure when visiting The Ivy and made to feel welcome and comfortable by all people we meet both staff and other customers.

I have also been with my friends and as a group of women we need to feel safe which we always have done.

I hope this reflects how I feel about the Ivy Bar and Colin Barrett and his staff. If any more information is required do not hesitate to contact me at the above address.

Yours Sincerely,

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to you in regards to the document displayed on the premises of The Ivy. Living a short distance from the Ivy I have never experienced any type of disturbance or antisocial situation involving the business. The Ivy is a professionally run establishment which offers the local community a safe and welcoming environment, where the community can bring friends and family for a nice pleasant drink. The business has the upmost respect for local residents, and this is evident as I live very close by and have never been disturbed by loud music or antisocial situations. I have 100% faith in The Ivy, and feel comfortable hosting my children's parties there and cannot fault staff on their performance. Not only is the business professionally run they are friendly and have their customer's best interests at heart. The Ivy is a well kept business with the highest levels of cleanliness, they are very responsible and offer their customer's professionalism and safety when visiting the establishment. When I saw the notice displayed I was shocked as being an islander I know the Ivy is one of the most responsible when issuing alcohol. When I have visited The Ivy I can honestly say there has never been a time an ID hasn't been checked up the customer looks underage. The Ivy has zero tolerance for antisocial behaviour therefore is the only establishment I feel comfortable taking my young family. I hope that the document displayed on the Ivy premises doesn't have a negative impact on the business as it would.

be a shame for the local community as the Trust offers a safe and responsible environment to be enjoyed by young families and the local community.

Many Thanks

Miss Paige Gray
