.....IP claims to have recently returned to the uk and is in sheerness on business. the IP was in the ivy leaf PH drinking for most of the day and got chatting with most of the persons inside. during the course of the day one of these males has leant money to another who has then left the pub and not returned tis male got angry at loosing his money so punched the IP in the face causing his upper and lower lip to split bleed and become swollen. the IP has made his way to aldi where police called.
.....the above is the account given by the IP HOWEVER he was very selective about what information he gave to police. from the snippets of info he was giving this sounded like some kind of drug purchase/payment gone wrong, possibly directly involving the IP. the IP was claiming these males were possibly trying to deal and someone ran off from the dealer.

IP stated he would get himself checked out at hoispital and then he was leaving the UK and flying to budapest as it's safer there.
